DREAM CORE

A weird core form around the theme of dreams. Use familiar scenes and environment images for processing, low pixel and high saturation colors and some unconventional collages to create visual effects.

Pictures also often add some text as a visual guide to arouse people's imagination

CHILDHOOD

Dreams are made by the will of someone so there's a lot of material in dreamcore about tapping into nostalgia for things you might have done as a child

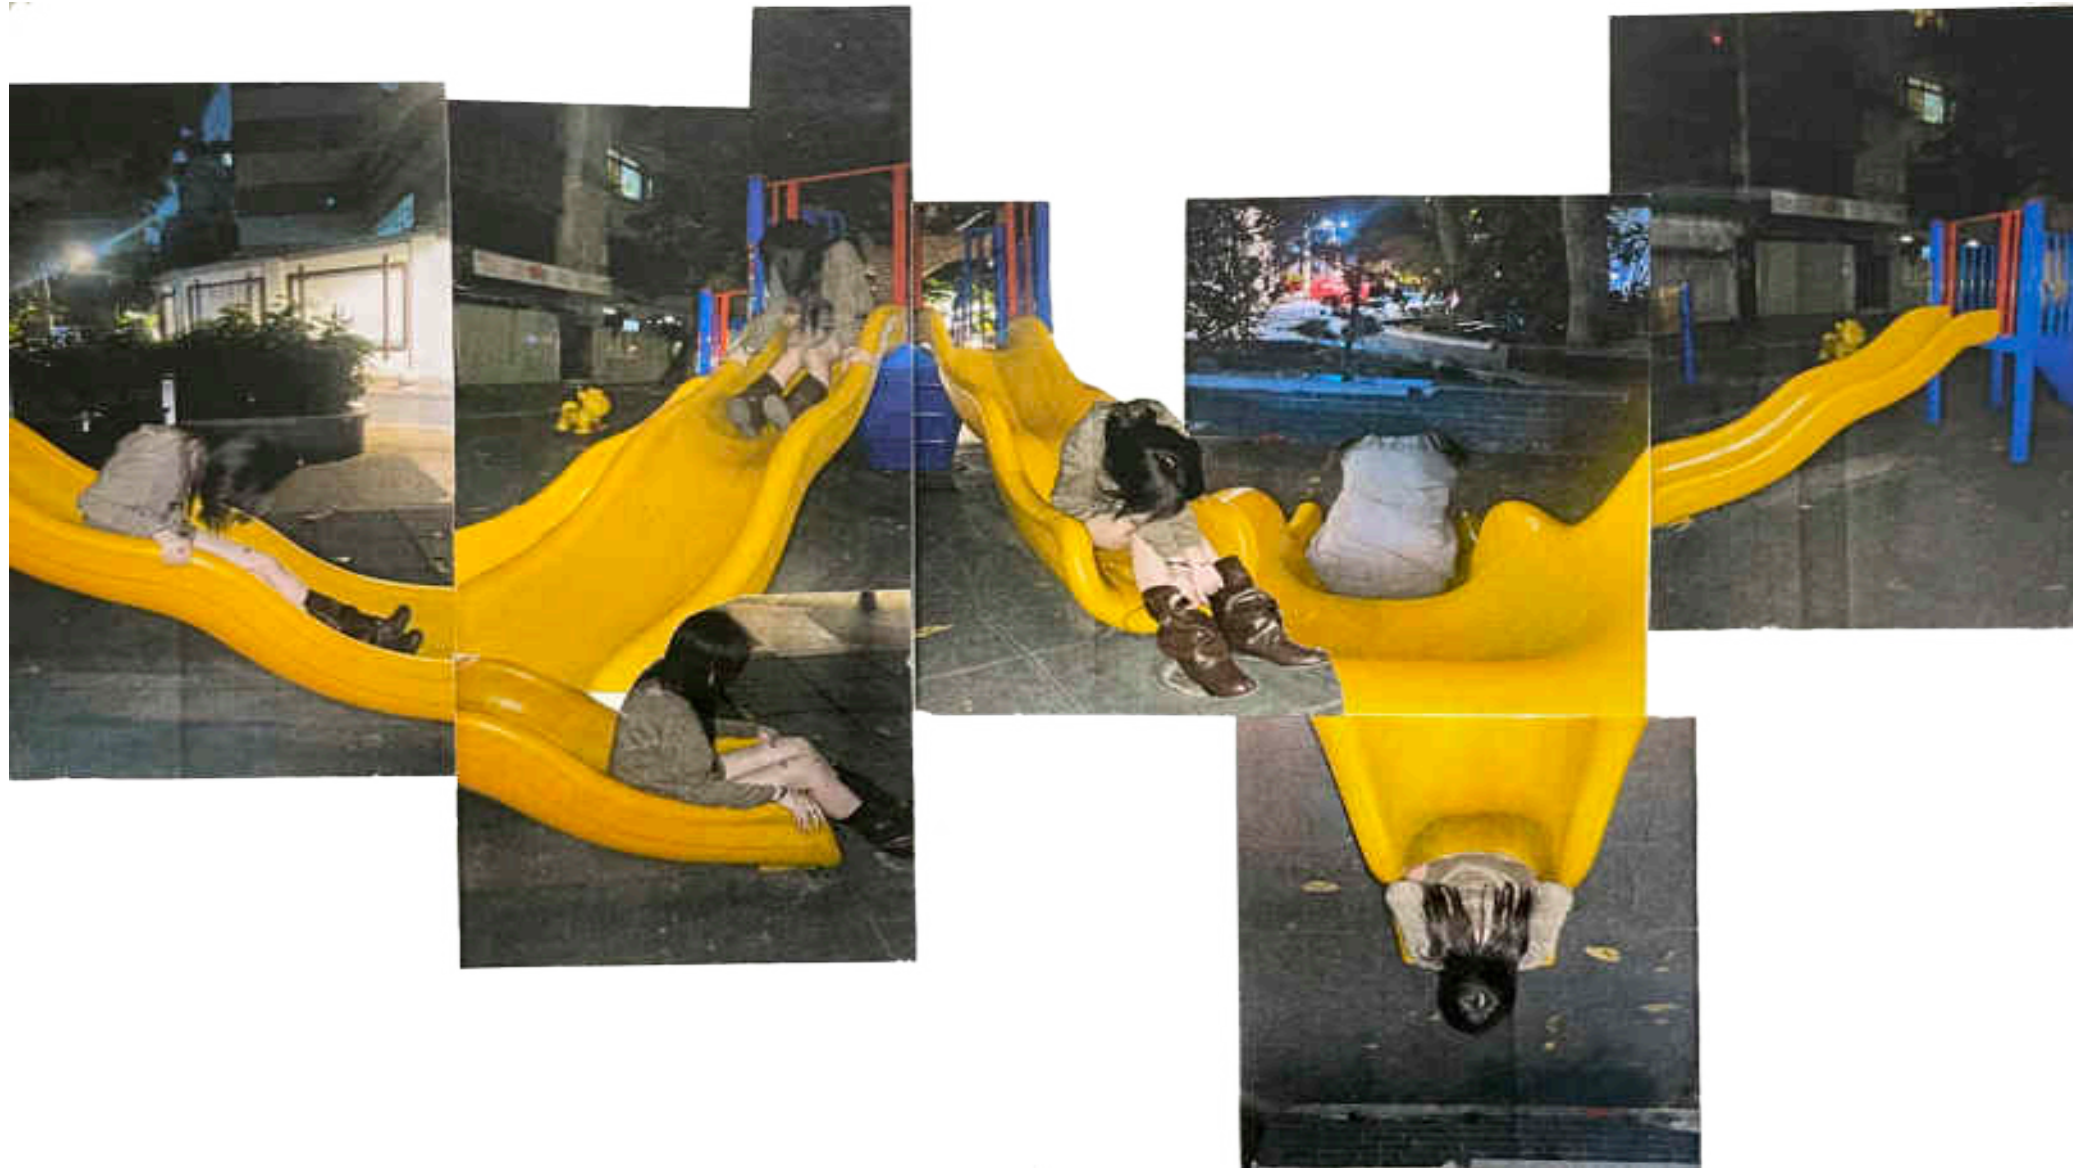

And I think why this theme appeals to me and I think it's because it shows the confusion that people have when they are pursuing, right

I imitated this style and took photos for collage
