Cat

I wanted to create something to show my love to my cat, so I started to search some interesting news online

Then I came across a piccc of news said a there was a cat stationmaster in Japan. It is so interesting for a cat to take on human jobs!

Dccided to create a one on my own!

Research

Tama (April 29, 1999 – June 22, 2015) was a female calico cat who gained fame for being a station master and operating officer at Kishi Station in Japan.

The publicity from Tama's appointment led to an increase in passengers by 17% for that month as compared to January 2006; ridership statistics for March 2007 showed a 10% increase over the previous financial year. A study estimated that the publicity surrounding Tama has contributed 1.1 billion yen to the local economy.

I also have searched another cat taking on human jobs.

Chief Mouser to the Cabinet Office

Chief Mouser to the Cabinet Office is the title of the official resident cat of the prime minister of the United Kingdom at 10 Downing Street.

The first one to be given the official title of Chief Mouser by the British government was Larry in 2011.

I think it is very clear to broadcast some messages in the form of newspaper. So I decided to express my thoughts through newspaper. I have looked into the content section of newspapers.

I have looked into some visuals of antique newspaper. Because I think they have a strong sense of picture and lines, and they are very lively and interesting.

Development

I tried collage, drawing and painting to express various types of cats.

Experiment

I tried the visual effect of marker drawing, computer drawing and paper-cutting. And found out that the marker drawing and computer drawing has a better effect than paper-cutting.
