

Project 3: Aculturation

The theme of Aculturation reminds me of punk. The meaning of punk has become an independent style from describing a kind of people since its birth. The development of punk not only has a new beginning and development in music. In the art field, there are many novel works, whether it is clothing jewelry or plane. The rebellious spirit of punk attracts me very much. Eliminate negative actions and thoughts. Rebellion in life can make oneself full of courage.

The history of punk

What and why things changed?

1975

1978

2020

1975 — The early stage of punk.
1978 — The middle stage of punk.
2020 — Modern punk.

Punk was born in the first place because of tax policy. Governments before 1975 had imposed two taxes. One for the state, one for the crown. Unemployment among British workers at the time of the financial crisis reached 20% nationwide. Some young people use music to vent their emotions and challenge the government. Many of the most famous bands came and went during that era. The Sex Pistols, the most iconic punk band, came into the public eye because of their daring acts. But the band split up after only two years.

By the early 1980s punk had become even crazier. Oppose everything you see that you don't like. It even lost the original intention of punk. But modern punk only left the style of clothing and makeup is loved by some people. But the spirit of punk has completely disappeared in modern times.

The first piece was based on a guitar. The first punk music, Britain, came about because of policy anger. Although punk music is simple, it became famous for its easy-to-master chords and provocative lyrics. In the first work, three guitar strings and steel nails are used to express the anger of punks in the early stage and use music as a weapon to shout at the government.

Design Developments

The third piece is from the later period of punk. Punk to the present period almost only fashion style exists. And the people who like punk style do not become punk because of the rebellious spirit of punk. So now the punk style seems to be left with exaggerated dress and makeup. In the third work, I used white copper as the foundation to create a ring by imitating punk makeup. For the eye shadow part I used colored foil, which looks very flashy. Even if the makeup and once on the edge of the punk but because of the integration of modern makeup style and completely lost the spirit of the past.

The second piece is from the middle of punk. Punk is full of violence in the middle, is completely unreasonable against everything they hate. Like a pistol, it can be used for defense or wounding. And the madness of punk is like taking a pistol and shooting randomly. So I created a wearable inspired by a pistol.
